

RESILIENT LEADERSHIP

Innovative Strategies to Bounce Back Quickly Amidst Adversity

The truth is, everyone has been affected by the current global events. Economic challenges, job loss, businesses shutting down, and people losing their homes and family members to depression, illness, and political conflict. None of us can ignore the magnitude and complexity of what we are facing to which prior generations have never been exposed. The question is, how do we as leaders bounce back quickly amidst chaos and cultivate resilience within ourselves and our teams? We need more than positivity and inspiration. We need practical action steps that bring everyone to the table to unite us and help us move the needle forward, in our personal and professional environments.

In this raw and heartwarming talk, Darla breaks down 3 innovative strategies needed to thrive as a leader during a time of turbulence. She sheds light on the challenging time being the secret ingredient to cultivating a resilient mindset.
